

Creativity Climate Quotes to Use in the Workplace

By Marilyn Schoeman

Create a supportive environment - diminish the negatives and multiply the positives.

Creative thinking unearths many treasures buried in the depths of your mind.

There is no satisfactory alternative to developing your potential.

The more we use our creativity, the more creative we become.

The more creative we become, the more contribution we can make.

Suggestions are positive, criticism is negative.

Suggestions are helpful, criticism is hurtful.

We must eliminate learned helplessness and learned irrelevance.

We must generate learned competence and learned significance.

Build self-esteem till there is no longer in need. There is always a need.

Promote suggestions, affirmations, compliments and buildups.

Eliminate sarcasm, criticism, negativity and putdowns.

If you don't know you can do it you're unlikely to pursue it.

If you're not pulling yourself forward you're holding yourself back.

You have the power to empower - yourself and others.

The distance between our potential and our achievement is equal to the distance between the self-esteem we possess and the self-esteem we deserve.

What is not now an interest may become one.

What is not now an ability may become one.

What is now a source of fear, may become a source of joy.
